Pentagon to Conduct Emergency Response Exercise

PENTAGON, March 13, 2014 - The Pentagon Force Protection Agency will conduct an emergency response exercise at the Pentagon Reservation on Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon EDT. The exercise will simulate a scenario that will enable federal, state, and local first responders to respond to, and mitigate a real-world emergency situation. This exercise will allow local and regional law enforcement personnel to evaluate existing emergency plans, and to enhance interagency response efforts.

A large number of first responders from the region, and a significant amount of equipment from local fire, police, and rescue units, will be participating in the exercise. Those traveling near the Pentagon Reservation should observe all safety signs posted near the exercise site.
